

Do you like this communication games? Let's give these variations a try:

1. If the participants get really good at the exercise, you can play another round and make it more difficult for them. Instead of doing the exercise in pairs of two, you can also add a third person: person C. Person A makes a drawing and whispers the description into person C's ear without person B hearing it. Now, person C describes to person B the instructions he just heard; person B tries to draw the most accurate copy as possible.
2. You can do the exercise with the whole group. One person describes his drawing, without showing it, to the rest of the group. Everyone tries to copy the drawing as precisely as possible. The person who makes the best copy wins.

Can't get enough of this exercise? In my new book you will find more variations. Plus 100 other team building exercises, including:

- Extensive explanations
- Multiple variations
- The outcome of each exercise
- And a QR code linked to the corresponding video
